

Accredited Training in Glasgow

TPAS can now offer Scottish Qualification Authority accredited training for tenants and staff involved in housing. Training will be delivered in our training room in Glasgow City Centre.

What's on offer?

- 12 Sessions spread over 6 months
- SQA level 2 in Housing Administration
- No entry qualifications required

What will you learn?

Participants will leave with a comprehensive understanding of policy and practice in social housing. Participants will be able to apply their knowledge to improve services provided by their landlord.

When does it start?

Training will start on the 29th of March 2010 and finish on the 30th September 2010.

When will the training take place?

Training will take place twice a month on Wednesdays or Thursday and dates will be finalised to suit participants.

Places are limited

There are only 15 places available.

How much does it cost?

There is a fixed price for the 12 sessions of £599 per person (plus VAT). TPAS members will receive a 10% discount.

This works out at less than £50 per session and includes all learning materials and refreshments during the training.

Participants are expected to make their own arrangements for travelling to and from our Glasgow office.
